

Did you know Lorna Stapley is a School Governor? She has worked at Ridge View School for 30 years and wanted to find another way to support the school. As a Governor, she leads the Learning and Development Committee, even if she does think it's a bit scary sometimes.

A Morning with Lorna Stapley

Lorna told us that she doesn't like junk food but she likes home cooked food. At first she was a Teaching Assistant then she trained to be a Teacher. At the same time, 8 years ago now, she also became a Governor at Ridge View.

Then we asked Lorna what she does as a Governor and she confirmed she was leading the Learning and Development Committee. Do you think Lorna likes her job as a Governor? We do! When we asked her, she replied; "Yes I do! I really like being a Governor at Ridge View School!" but she admitted that she was nervous about becoming a Governor.

Lorna helps as a Governor at Ridge View so the children can get a better education, which is really important.
