ENGLISH & MEDIA STUDIES TEACHER

Wilmington Grammar School for Boys

Wilmington Grammar School for Boys is seeking to appoint an imaginative, dedicated and forward-thinking teacher of English and Media Studies. This is an exciting opportunity to join a thriving department that values creativity, critical thinking, and academic excellence.

Our English and Media Department is built on the principle of finding beauty in creativity, imagination and deep thought. We deliver a broad curriculum that develops English Language skills through the analysis of a wide and diverse range of literary texts, while also offering a dynamic and contemporary Media Studies programme at A-Level.

About the Role

The successful candidate will teach English across Key Stage 3 and contribute to our A-Level Media Studies provision. The Eduqas A-Level Media Studies course is designed to engage students with the media in all its forms—print, broadcast, online and social—through analytical and practical approaches. Students explore key theoretical frameworks, including media language, representation, audiences and industries, and apply these to a range of set texts across different platforms.

The course also includes a significant non-exam assessment (NEA), where students create their own media products in response to a brief, allowing them to develop technical skills and creative independence. The ideal candidate will be confident in guiding students through both analytical and production elements of the course.

We are looking for someone who:

- Has a passion for language, literature and media
- Demonstrates excellent curriculum knowledge, particularly of the Eduqas A-Level Media Studies specification
- Can inspire students through engaging and innovative teaching
- Is confident in teaching KS3 English and supporting literacy development
- Is enthusiastic about promoting a love of reading and media beyond the classroom
- Is keen to contribute to our diverse extra-curricular programme, including media clubs, film production, or journalism
- Is committed to their own professional development and eager to grow within a supportive environment

Why Join Us?

Wilmington Grammar School for Boys is an exceptional school with a strong track record of achievement. As part of the Endeavour MAT family of schools, we pride ourselves on setting consistently high expectations, securing exceptional outcomes and delivering high quality standards of teaching and learning for all.

As an employee of Endeavour MAT, the successful candidate will benefit from:

We are fully committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and expect all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.
